

MISSION WORKER ASSASSINATED

Had Declared Himself Willing to Lay Down His Life for the Christian Cause

FELL DEAD AMIDST HIS FOLLOWERS

Sensational Murder Sunday, at Wood's Run, a Suburb of Pittsburg—Suppose Insane Man Fired Two Bullets Into Head of Frank Skala, Editor and Prominent Mission Worker, and Escaped—Posse in Pursuit.

Pittsburg, April 10.—A sermon on martyrdom, in which Frank Skala, an editor and prominent mission worker, had declared himself willing to lay down his life for the Christian cause, was followed by a shooting in a highly sensational manner, and the shooting down also of a fellow church leader and his colleague.

Shot by Ragged and Collarless Man. Arm in arm the two men were leaving the little Congregational church in Wood's Run, a suburb, at the head of more than a hundred followers, a ragged and collarless man worked his way through the crowd as it reached the corner of Eckert street and McClure avenue and when he was but a step behind the leaders, pressed the muzzle of a revolver against Skala's head and fired twice. The bullets took effect in the jaw and temple and in the midst of the followers Skala fell dead. Gay, who threw up his hand as if to ward off the crowd, was struck by a bullet on the head and then a second bullet buried itself in his head. He fell unconscious across the lifeless body of his colleague.

Panic-Stricken Crowd Fled. For a moment for several moments the assassin stood over his prey in a crowd of followers, a revolver in his hand, a flourish of his revolver, which he brandished in the air, and then he fled. The panic-stricken crowd fled to shelter behind posts and doorways.

Jan Radowitch, Madman. The madman was Jan Radowitch, a character known to most of the mission for his radical opinions. Shortly before the shooting he had been seen from juvenile letters in the Sunday school by Skala; previously he had been in the back of the church, waving the regular sermon; and at the commencement of the services Skala had shaken his head against him, saying all this time Radowitch had given no warning of his homicidal intent.

Armed Posse in Pursuit. There were no police in sight when the shooting took place. A church people were too frightened to seize the assassin, and his wild cry on the bodies, he made off down the avenue to the Fort Wayne railroad tracks.

$24,000 SUBSCRIBED

IN 28 MINUTES

Toward Building New Fifth Avenue Baptist Church.

New York, April 10.—In twenty-eight minutes the congregation of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church subscribed $24,000 today to build a new church of this sum John D. Rockefeller gave half, having promised to duplicate dollar for dollar up to $100,000, when a $200,000 limit will have been reached. As the share of the congregation added from Mr. Rockefeller's gift was $120,000 today, other subscriptions will be taken up later.

The largest individual contribution outside of the Rockefeller family was that of Edgar L. Marston, a New York banker, who gave $25,000. The next largest was from Charles H. Hoyt, and from the family of the Hon. Horatio B. Hoar, who gave $10,000 each. There were several other donations, including one from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who gave $10,000 each.

The elder Rockefeller, as he left the church, put his arm around the shoulder of a young man and said: "I haven't anything to say, but don't tell the other reporters." He smiled broadly at his quip.

The Rev. Dr. F. A. Ayer said last Sunday that Mr. Rockefeller was not to be allowed to contribute to the church's share, but he made no comment today on the agreement to double the congregation's subscription.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, April 10.—Thirty robbers attacked the treasury at Kiklar, a town of Circassia, a day ago. The military guard made a brave defense and seventeen were killed in the conflict, including five soldiers, a non-commissioned officer, and a cashier. PULLMAN BERTH RATES ORDERED REDUCED.

"Unjust and Unreasonable" to Charge Same for Upper and Lower Berths—Interstate Commerce Commission Decision.

Washington, April 10.—The interstate commerce commission in a decision today holds it to be "unjust and unreasonable" to charge the same rates for upper and lower berths in its sleeping cars. Differential charges must be ordered in several instances and Pullman rates from Chicago to the Pacific are ordered reduced.

The commission ruled that the present Pullman rates of $12 from St. Paul to Chicago, which are charged for both upper and lower berths, are ordered reduced to $10. The present rate of $12 for an upper berth is ordered reduced to $10.

A short night's journey, the commission holds, should not carry a rate of more than $1.50 for a lower berth and $1.10 for an upper.

The report, written by Commissioner Franklin K. Lane, who is in charge, does not disclose the exhaustive examination which was made of the Pullman company's accounts, but it does show the commission's investigation of the sleeping car company's contracts and annual dividends of nearly $60,000,000 from 1899 to 1908, inclusive.

Killed with a Club

WIELDED BY MAN WHOSE HOUSE HE ATTEMPTED TO ENTER.

NOTED BURGLAR'S CAREER ENDS

Philadelphia, April 10.—James, alias "Red" Gallagher, a notorious burglar with a long prison record, was killed with a club this morning, after a desperate struggle, by a man who entered his house, followed by Zeigant, whose home he attempted to enter.

Samuel Zeigant, of 2421 North Twenty-third street, was awakened at midnight by his wife, who said a man was trying to get into a neighboring house. Looking out, Zeigant saw the burglar, who was armed with a club, and he rushed to the door, followed by Zeigant, whose home he attempted to enter.
